Once upon a time there were two girls. These girls were (1) _____, and they lived together in Rotterdam

Together they walked through the woods to pick up some treats from the (2) _____.

Fay always put on the most beautiful dresses. This is because she was a (3) _____. Her (4) _____ dress glittered with the rays of light descending through the (5) _____ leaves.

Beside her _____ walked (6) _____, Ezra. Her eyes scanned the ground, searching for the largest (7) _____ in the entire forest.

(8) _____ the girls walked through the forest. Luckily the shop was not far from their own home, just through the (9) _____ and they were already there. Everything went smoothly until Fay suddenly shouted "Hey Ezra!! Look what I find here." Fay walked over to the Ezra. "Watch out Ezra!! My dress can not get dirty, if that happens I will push you into the water." Slowly she went with her face to the water to see better, looked up to Ezra and said "Wow I cannot believe my eyes! A (10) _____?!! What are we going to do with this?" Ezra thought for a second and said "we'll take it to the (2) _____". Quickly she took it out of the water and carefully put it in her bag.

The girls had never run so fast in their lives. When they arrived at the (2) _____, Fay's dress was all dirty from the dew on the grass, but she did not even notice it because of the shocking situation. Ezra checked and still had the (10) _____ safely in her bag. Once arrived, the employee was shocked and quickly took the (10) _____ out of her hands and put it in a fishbowl. "You do know that you should never take a (10) _____ out of the water! Something bad could have happened." "Sorry," the girls said in unison. They quickly said what they needed: "(11) _____ please" and walked out of the store.

Disappointed because they couldn't take the (10) _____ with them, the (1) _____ walked back home, through the forest where the afternoon sun was already rising. "Want to see what's in my bag?" Fay said after a while, showing the (10) _____ she had secretly brought back from the (2) _____. They laughed together until tears rolled down their cheeks as they continued their way home where they took good care of the (10) _____, and lived happily ever.
